Tito Is Told He Can Buy U. S. Mill

Move Is Regarded as One of Greatest Risks Taken in Aid

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia picked up new reinforcements to carry on his fight with Moscow today with assurance from the United States that he can buy an American steel mill.

After months of consideration, the administration granted the Yugoslav government an export license which it needed before placing the order for the plant. The American decision represents the strongest and riskiest move taken by the American government to help the Yugoslav dictator since he split with Moscow nearly 14 months ago.

It also settled a long-standing argument between the National Defense and State Departments on whether shipment of a steel mill to Yugoslavia would endanger American security. Defense officials had frowned on the idea. The decision to go ahead foreshadowed possible approval of a loan to Yugoslavia from the world bank, where the United States has a dominant voice.

Government officials who disclosed the approval of the Yugoslav plant request to a reporter said it was intended to help combat the tightening Russian-directed economic blockade of Yugoslavia.

Shipment of the steel mill, valued at $3,000,000, would mark the first time since the war that the United States has deliberately sent "war potential" material to a Communist-run nation.

Poland and Czechoslovakia have been clamoring for American machinery and equipment for the past year. The United States has flatly refused to heed their appeals for fear such strategic materials might be used for war purposes.

W.C.T.U. Has Plan

Would Curtail Liquor Ads on Radio; Also Hits at Yale

Philadelphia, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union opened its 75th national convention today with a program attempting to curtail radio liquor advertisements and promote local options.

In pre-convention statements, leaders of the organization declared themselves in favor of legislation banning advertising of liquor, beer and wine on the radio. They also said the W.C.T.U. program would be pointed toward drying up additional areas through local options.

Yesterday, President Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of Evanston, Ill., declared the W.C.T.U. has "noted a fermenting friendliness" between Yale University's School of Alcohol Studies and the drink industry.

"It is hard to conceive of a great university teaching such a subject so subsidized," Mrs. Colvin said in a statement.

Freeman Expresses Thanks to All Who Helped Exhibit

Seven thousand one hundred and twelve persons visited the New York State Freedom Train here on Tuesday and Wednesday, according to the count taken by the personnel aboard the train.

There were 2,779 persons who viewed the priceless documents on Wednesday. This number was comprised of 1,720 adults and 1,059 children. On Tuesday, the first day of the exhibit here, 4,333 were attracted to the train.

For the two days the number of adults exceeded the number of children, the totals being 3,768 adults and 3,344 children.

On the opening day 850 children were transported to and from the train from the various city playgrounds in the big locomotive of Ulster County, 381, La Societe des Hommes and 8 Cheveaux.

The Freedom Train remained here overnight and early this morning went to New Paltz where it will make an appearance until 9 o'clock tonight.

In connection with the appearance of the Freedom Train in New Paltz there will be an historical pageant parade there today.

The train will be in Highland on Saturday.

The Freedom Train made its first stop in Ulster county on Monday at Saugerties where 3,320 visitors were recorded.

Appreciation
The Freeman Publishing Company acknowledges with profound gratitude the wholehearted cooperation received during the visit of the New York State Freedom Train here this week. The facility with which the various associations and institutions responded was most encouraging and inspiring. This generous assistance was a large measure responsible for the success of the visit of the Freedom Train in Kingston.

To the school authorities, recreation department, veterans organizations, 156th Field Artillery, National Guard, the police of the county and city, the officials and the theater, radio station and business institutions as well as the civic, fraternal and service groups we express our thanks.

The purpose of the Freedom Train is to help people appreciate the beginning, development and the present significance of our country. It is to be a living exhibit that the exhibit of priceless documents here has recreated an awareness of this freedom and the effort being made to hand down unimpaired to the next generation our democratic form of government has been strengthened greatly.

Had Four on Block
Charles Relyea, 19, of Hurley, had four steers on the block. According to the rules of the fair, the owner may submit one bid and pull the steer out of the ring—in other words, remove it from sale. When the high bid of 34 cents a pound was received, Relyea's father entered a bid of 35 cents for his son, and the steers were immediately taken off sale, Mr. Relyea said.

"It doesn't make sense," he said. He pointed out that the steers cost the boys 38 cents on the hoof last fall and that they have received the best of care. "You can't get the same 4-A beef from western markets at that price," he said.

There was a collusion of buyers," he charged. He emphasized, however, that he did not include in his charge the buyer from the Empire Market in Kingston, who submitted the 34-cent bid but said he could not go higher without authorization from his home office.

"There will not be any more auctions," Relyea stated, "unless they are sure they can get some good buyers."

Dixon Refuses to Sell
Russell Dixon, 11, also of Hurley, refused to sell his blue-ribbon winner for 38 cents a pound. He added that he will not raise a steer next year. His father, George C. Dixon, explained that the purchase price of the steer last fall was $340, and that, with the amount of feed "put into it," must bring a price of between 40 to 45 cents a pound.

Dixon said he did not know of any collusion, but said he thought "it looked funny" that several of the buyers followed the steers to their stables after they were removed from sale and tried to buy them later in private sale.

Other 4-H Club members who had steers for sale were Dolores Wayne said this morning that he did not sell his steer, but said he did not know why it was the bids were slow in coming.

Jury Finds Duo Guilty Of Murder

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Plump Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez today were convicted of first-degree murder in the bludgeoned-strangulation slaying last Jan. 4 of Mrs. Janet Fay.

There was no recommendation of mercy. The verdict automatically carries a mandatory death penalty.

The jury returned its verdict in Bronx Supreme Court at 7.30 a. m. (E.S.T.) today, 12 hours and 34 minutes after it received the case last night.

The two defendants displayed no emotion when the verdict was announced by Fred D. Yoeb, jury foreman.

The jury had been up all night. Mrs. Beck, standing to the right of her attorney, Herbert E. Rosenberg, had rested her fingers on the defense counsel's table. Fernandez stood poker-faced.

After the verdict was announced both defendants were instructed to sit down. Mrs. Beck stared at Rosenberg, and Fernandez glared at the still standing defense lawyer.

The jury was polled at the request of the defense, and each answered affirmatively when asked if it was his or her verdict.

Rafalowsky Signs Building Contract For Three Stores

Herman G. Rafalowsky, clothier of 564 Broadway, announced yesterday that he had signed a contract with Thomas Kennedy & Son, contractors, for the erection of a building to house three stores at Albany avenue and Broadway.

Work on the project is expected to start at the earliest possible date. Rafalowsky said, and the building on the site, which he purchased some time ago will be razed.

The new building will be 125 by 56 feet, will be of modern design, fixtures and equipment, and one of its three stores will be occupied by the clothier, who has conducted his business for many years at 564 Broadway.

President Gets Six of His 7 Plans

Setback Came When Senate Disapproved Welfare Department Program

Says Bill Voided

Unification Bill Was Superseded, Tydings Says

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—President Truman now has six of his first seven government reorganization plans in the bag.

The six will go into effect at midnight tomorrow. There probably will be no more reorganization action at this session of Congress.

The Senate late yesterday approved the final two plans about which there was any controversy. One, reorganization plan No. 2, transfers the U. S. Employment Service and the related Unemployment Insurance Service from the Federal Security Agency to the Labor Department.

The other, reorganization plan No. 7, transfers the Public Roads Administration, now in the General Services Administration, to the Commerce Department.

In both cases, the Senate voted down resolutions of disapproval—on No. 2 by a 57 to 32 vote, and on No. 7 by 47 to 40. In both cases opponents would have been required to get a constitutional majority, or 49 votes, to have made the disapproval effective.

The reorganization act provides that a reorganization plan submitted by the President to Congress will become effective 60 days after submission, unless disapproved by either House.

The Senate Tuesday handed Mr. Truman one of his severest setbacks of the session when it disapproved his reorganization plan No. 1 to create a new Welfare Department combining the functions of health, education and welfare.

The four other plans, in addition to Nos. 2 and 7, assured of passing Congress as follows:

No. 3—Providing for reorganization of the Post Office Department at the top level.

No. 4—Transferring the National Security Council and the National Security Resources Board to the executive office of the President.

No. 5—Vesting administrative authority in the chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

No. 6—Vesting administrative authority in the chairman of the Maritime Commission.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said the President's reorganization plan for military unification, submitted after the first seven, was nullified when Congress passed its own unification bill several weeks ago.

The bill paralleled the President's plan and the recommendations of the Hoover Commission in most respects.

Officials Will Lift Controls in What Are Said to Be Areas of 'Borderline'

State Might Act

New York Law Can Be Used Only if All U. S. Control Ends

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—President Truman today blamed the predicted lifting of federal rent controls in one third of the areas still having them on Congress' failure to provide sufficient appropriations.

Questioned at a news conference about Housing Expediter "Felix E. Woods' announcement yesterday that the rent controls will be lifted by October 1, the President said Congress did not provide enough money to enforce the rent control law.

Woods called in his top lieutenants and regional officials to discuss the stepped-up plans.

Officials said a determined effort will be made to lift controls first in so-called "borderline" areas—those where sufficient rental housing exists or soon will be available.

There was no immediate indication which regions they had in mind, and officials said such information will not be ready for several days.

Woods earlier had predicted that no community of more than 100,000 population will be affected.

"The cuts will be country wide, not concentrated in any one particular section," he said yesterday in announcing plans for the action.

Controls will be raised under provisions of the present federal rent act which expires next July. It empowers the housing expediter to lift ceilings but to slap them on again if rent gouging occurs.

Since April, when the law became effective, Woods has abolished controls in 133 areas. Still under regulation are approximately 1,000 counties located in some 500 areas designated by the housing agency.

Drastic Speedup
High-ranking rent officials acknowledged that the new decontrol policy means a drastic speed-up of original plans.

Woods attributed the new action to a budget slash by Congress. He said the cut in funds for the agency's operation made it necessary either to fire one-third of the staff or decontrol one-third of the areas where ceilings exist.

The cut was made in an appropriations measure written by Senate-House conferees trying to iron out differences between separate bills passed by each House. The House has approved the decontrol bill, but the Senate hasn't taken it yet.

Anglo Financial Experts Draft Proposals on Dollar Shortage

London, Aug. 18 (AP)—A secret document outlining proposals for meeting the world dollar crisis has been drawn up by a committee of top British financial experts and goes before the cabinet for approval next week.

If okayed, the four-part document will form basic British policy at next month's dollar-pound conference, when Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin meet U. S. Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder and Canadian officials.

Net Free Pictures
London, (AP)—Six British museums bid $168,000 for paintings by artist and poet William Blake at an art auction and then got them for nothing. A secret clause in the will of the late Graham Robertson, London playwright who collected Blake's works, specified that "institutions serving the public should have free the works for which they were prepared to pay considerable sums." The sale of Robertson's collection of paintings by the 19th century artist brought a total of $248,396. Those not taken by museums and art galleries were bought by private collectors.

Gets Black Eye
Singapore, (AP)—A 38-year-old woman vegetable seller earned the questionable distinction of being the first person in Singapore to give a member of this island's new women police force a black eye. Lan Choon was sent to prison for six weeks for assault and was fined $10 for hawking without a license. Policewoman Miss Susi Gan was the brief witness against

Lan. Wearing a definitely discolored left eye, Miss Gan said she tried to arrest the vegetable seller only to receive a sharp left to the eye. Miss Gan had to call a police constable to bring a semblance of order.

Soap Is Luxury in Europe
Vienna, (AP)—Soap is still a rich man's luxury in many European countries. Even in those countries where it is not rationed, the price is generally higher than low income groups can pay. Hospitals and other public institutions still depend on charity shipments from abroad for the bulk of their needs. CARE officials throughout Europe report the use of inferior quality soaps in institutions is a serious menace to child health.

Bard Appoints New Counselor for College Students

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 16.—An expanded student counseling program will be inaugurated this fall at Bard College. President Fuller announced today. The new plan to be under the direction of Dr. Joel Shor, psychologist, is designed to supplement Bard's unique system of individual faculty advisers who are responsible for helping students to solve both their academic and social problems.

Under the new program the counselor will have three functions: (1) to increase the awareness of both students and faculty of the most successful techniques of mental hygiene for meeting normal student problems; (2) to make available to the faculty additional methods for identifying unusual student difficulties; (3) to help students to evaluate their individual needs for specialized aid in solving their problems of social adjustment and intellectual growth. The needs for such services became apparent this past year after a long and careful study of student needs on the campus.

Dr. Shor serves in a similar capacity at Sarah Lawrence College and has also taught at New York University and Yale University. During the war he was a clinical psychologist with the U. S. Army.

He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York and received his Ph.D. from New York University. He has done post-graduate work in a number of universities.

NEW EUROPEAN FRAMEWORK

This is an historic moment in ancient Strasbourg, France. The first Parliament of Europe is meeting. In the future we may look back upon these days as the beginnings of a United States of Europe.

Officially, this parliament is known as the Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe. This council also has another body called the Committee of Ministers.

These two agencies are the naked steel beams of the first common structure Europe has dared to attempt. That a Europe divided for centuries has come this far is an event the whole world must hail.

But it would be folly to expect too much at the start. Presumably the ultimate goal is some sort of political and economic federation of European states. Yet that is clearly a long way off.

The unifying forces in Europe must combat time-encrusted traditions and customs which separate the nations and give substance to their sturdy national pride. There are language barriers and countless cultural differences.

To appreciate the problem, we need only observe the trouble America has had in simply trying to break down the barriers among the three branches of our armed forces. The obstacles sometimes appear insurmountable.

At this stage, the consultative assembly in Strasbourg is little more than a discussion group. Its first job is to decide what it wants to talk about.

What, for example, should be its role in the economic sphere? There is a tendency at this point to leave economic issues to existing organizations like that now dealing with Marshall Plan funds from the European end.

And is it too early yet to talk seriously about political unity?

These are the big items, but the assembly may very well decide the sensible thing to do is to seek out cooperation first in less controversial fields. Progress in the cultural realm would establish a habit of success and a new climate of cooperation.

Whatever happens in this first momentous gathering at Strasbourg, the world must pray that there will be no slackening in the determination to carry forward this project for European unity.

For even to approximate that objective would be to wipe out perhaps forever one of the great friction spots of the world—a prime breeding place of war.

GOLDENROD

Late summer and early fall travelers find goldenrod a delight to the eye, especially when its tall, feathery fronds spring up beside clusters of blue chicory or purple gentian, making a lovely color harmony. Hay fever sufferers, of course, are somewhat blind to its beauty.

Scientists, motivated neither by a love of beauty nor by physical annoyance, have discovered that this common weed holds a useful oil. Its licorice-like flavor makes it desirable for flavoring candy and chewing gum. Further uses in deodorants and insecticides are being investigated.

That beauty is its own excuse for being is a concept not recognized by science. Perhaps the oldest and best-known flower product is that of the foxglove, which makes digitalis, useful in treating certain heart ailments. Perfumes, many of which are produced synthetically, were formerly distilled from the flowers themselves. Goldenrod is not alone among the flowers in its position as a source of usefulness.

DRUGS FOR HAY FEVER

Hay fever sufferers endure so much misery that it is no wonder many want to try any new cure they hear about. But drugs are dangerous. Some of them have had reactions in unexpected directions. Others have habit-forming tendencies and the last state of the sufferer is worse than the first. The ragweed season does come to an end eventually, though sometimes it may seem an eternity. And the family doctor or nose specialist who has treated the patient before can be de-

THREE CHAPLAINS

The Navy has taken the most unusual step of appointing Commander Joshua L. Goldberg as district chaplain of the Third Naval District which includes the New York area. It is the first time that a Rabbi has attained this high office in the history of our armed services.

Chaplain Goldberg arrived in the United States in 1917. He immediately enlisted in the army, saw service in France in the A.E.F. He learned the English language while he was in the army. After the war, he studied for the rabbinate and served in a synagogue until World War 2, when he entered the Navy as a chaplain and has been there since. A graduate of the University of Odessa, a linguist, he is an extraordinarily efficient person, but his real genius is his breadth of view, his ability to cooperate with men of other faiths without compromising his own.

He once said to me: "Religion may be suppressed in some countries. Religious men may be at the throat of each other. Still there is, in America, a basic sportsmanship inherent in democracy. This is still a haven for one's spirit. Another fact that must be kept in mind is that there are no Jewish chaplains in any other navy in the world. And even Great Britain would not allow a chaplain of one faith to be in administrative charge of a chaplain of another faith in the navy. Hence, they have three chiefs of chaplains: Anglican, Roman Catholic and the representatives of the free churches. Jews are included in the category of free churches there."

It is perhaps not altogether a coincidence that simultaneous with Chaplain Goldberg's appointment, Rear Admiral Stanton W. Salisbury, U.S.N., should have been appointed chief chaplain of the navy. There were three of them who, in World War 2, built courageously a chaplain service ideal of ministering to the young men of whatever faith—so that the chaplain represented at times, particularly under stress, not only his own religion but all the religions. There were three of them, Captain Stanton W. Salisbury, Commander John R. Robinson and Lieutenant Commander Joshua L. Goldberg. It was Father Jack Robinson, as he was always referred to, and Captain Salisbury, who headed the Navy Chaplain's School at Norfolk, Virginia, and who inspired so many with the ideal of "cooperation without compromise." These three men, ministers of three faiths, formed in the navy a lasting friendship which transcended every human barrier.

Father Jack Robinson had told his parents that should anything happen to him, they were to communicate with "Josh" Goldberg, and when he did come down in a plane crash, it was Captain Salisbury who tended him during his last moments. It was this spirit of brotherhood that built the navy chaplain's service into something more and different from anything that had been known before.

In these days, when we quarrel over petty matters, it is refreshing to note that men who have devoted their lives to God can find a common ground and a deep affection and can labor for the spiritual life of our young people without bigotry. Chaplains Salisbury and Goldberg represent the broadest view and it is interesting that both appointments have been received with enthusiasm by the Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

I like the concept of a broad chaplain's service, for whereas so many are worried these days about the intrusion of the church and the state, our armed forces have the wisdom of knowing that the distressed, the frightened, the homesick, the weary, the wounded, the dying, turn their hearts to God's ministrations and seek comfort and spiritual happiness of God's word and His blessing.

Such men as Chaplains Salisbury and Goldberg and the late Jack Robinson never thought in terms of where or in what faith a boy was born, but only that he is a boy, far from home, serving his country—and he needs a friend. Such men have a tremendous capacity for friendship and they lavish it upon our sons. Should we ever have to go to war again, we shall find this comfort in our sleepless nights, that our sons are not alone, but are loved even by such men as these. ## INFECTED TEETH

Some years ago an old boyhood friend called me up and asked me if there was anything that could be done for his 12 year old boy who had heart disease. He told me that his family doctor had called in a heart specialist who said nothing could be done. However, since I was an old friend he thought I might know of something. I had to admit that in this type of heart disease, inflammation of the lining of the heart, endocarditis, once the inflammation was under way, rest was the only known treatment. The boy died a few days later.

Today physicians are not helpless in the treatment of endocarditis, now that we have penicillin and streptomycin which render these dangerous organisms harmless. These organisms, as do many other dangerous organisms, the streptococci, start in infected teeth and tonsils. Thus instead of all these cases of endocarditis dying the majority of them are saved. Unless they allow infected teeth, tonsils, or other parts to remain in the body they will live many years.

Endocarditis may attack the heart so quietly that the patient cannot understand why he is so tired, loses his appetite and has shortness of breath. Because an inflammation in the lining of the heart can do a lot of damage to the valves of the heart in a short time, heart specialists advise proper dosage of penicillin into a vein at once. While streptomycin is also effective, reactions to streptomycin occur in some patients so penicillin is the treatment of choice.

In "Modern Medicine of Canada," Dr. Leo Loewe, Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine, Long Island College of Medicine, warns patients and families of the danger of further attacks of endocarditis despite the fact that an eight weeks' course of penicillin cures the great majority of cases. He reports a series of 33 dangerous cases in which 81 per cent were cured by penicillin.

To prevent further attacks Dr. Loewe and his associates state that they early recognized the danger of infection as a cause of new attacks and following attacks. Dental infections are particularly notorious as planting the seed of infection in the blood stream. It is dangerous to try to continue to keep infected teeth; heart disease and rheumatic fever may result.

Reports of My Death Was Greatly Exaggerated

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—California's nudged Democratic scramble for governor is getting more hectic by the hour—although the primary is still a year off.

The air is blue with tales of intrigues and secret deals among the pack of hot-eyed aspirants. At least a half-dozen are in the field, led by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, and George Luckey, millionaire cattleman, openhanded 1948 Truman supporter, and D.D. or foe of young Roosevelt.

Luckey press agents claim he has White House backing. Spokesmen of the President emphatically say he is keeping strict hands-off. James Roosevelt is saying he has A.P.L. and other labor support. Luckey and other candidates counter that California labor is split on a choice.

Curious aspect of the feverish scramble is that much of the under-cover jockeying centers in Washington. Luckey has made a number of hush hush trips to the capital, and most of the other candidates, or their agents, have made treks. All fill a constant stream of rumors and tips eastward.

Latest to reach Democratic National Headquarters is the following:

A secret conference recently took place between James Roosevelt and George Luckey, top poobah of California old money promoters. Purpose of the meeting was to consider a Roosevelt-McCain ticket, the former for governor, the latter for lieutenant governor. Cement for the alliance would be McCain's "delivery" of his 250,000 pension followers, and Roosevelt's public support of their pension plan, on which the state ballots in a special election this November.

Real-hot kicker on this hot tale is that one of the prime movers of this alleged deal is Arthur Samish, massive "king" of California lobbyists.

Note 1: California's population has increased so enormously in recent years that the state is certain of a minimum of seven new Congressmen.

gressional seats in the 1950 reapportionment. It now has 23.

Note 2: Republican insiders say the party will ditch embattled Attorney General Frederick Napoleon Howser next year. He insists he will run again.

Secret Document

Lieut. Gen. Lawton Collins was very insistent on clearing his desk when photographers swarmed in after his elevation to army chief of staff. They were curious about this caution and Collins grinningly explained:

"It's because I got burnt once. I was very embarrassed by some pictures made at my headquarters in the E.T.O. when the Germans surrendered. I was waiting for two big-shot kvant generals to be brought in and was writing a letter to my wife. I had just written her about the impending fair when the two kvants were brought in. I left the letter lying on my desk while the photographers took pictures, and I'll be damned if one of the pictures that was published didn't show clearly my letter and what I had written to my wife."

Navy League

The truculently anti-air force Navy League is due for a rough going-over when the B-36 resumes next week. Rep. James Van Zandt, R., Pa., whose charges precipitated the investigation, is on close terms with the league. He is a captain in the navy reserve. Inside air force insiders are putting the finger on the league as the author of the anonymous letter, denouncing B-36 procurement, that created a furor on the opening day of the investigation.

Conspicuously absent at the hearing is Rep. James Wadsworth, R., N. Y. His son-in-law is Stuart Symington, secretary of air.

Displaced Persons

Neither side minced words in the closed-door meeting of the Senate Immigration Subcommittee when Senator Pat McCarran, D., Nev., refused to budge on his blockade of the House-passed bill to liberalize the "anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic" displaced persons law.

"Charges that this act is discriminatory are hokum," McCarran snapped. "I worked with Senator Revercomb (1948 West Virginia Republican lame-duck) on this act when it was drafted, and I know that the charges are untrue."

Sen. Matt Neely, D., who defeated Revercomb, took up the challenge.

"Revercomb and I are both Presbyterians," he said. "I had the strongest support of the Presbyterians because they considered this bill discriminatory. The Presbytery of northern West Virginia, last summer, took the extraordinary action of denouncing the Revercomb-McCarran Act as prejudiced and expressed their indignation at Revercomb in no uncertain terms."

"Did the Presbyterians explain why they considered it discriminatory?" demanded McCarran. "They didn't have to explain because the American press, including leading Republican papers, had explained the discriminatory features in no uncertain terms. This unfair law was a major issue in my campaign and I intend to see to it that it is changed."

Sen. Scott Lucas, Ill., Democratic floor leader, broke in with a conciliatory question.

"Pat, you have a bill on this subject," he said. "What would you do if Howard (Senator McGraw, D-R., I.) moves to discharge the committee and report out your own bill?"

"I will oppose it," broke in McCarran, "unless Pat is willing to cooperate."

Lucas made still another appeal to McCarran to allow action on the measure. He refused to make any concessions.

"What will you do if the Republicans take the initiative and move to discharge this committee?" asked Neely.

"I'll do nothing," retorted McCarran. "If they start anything, I'll keep them here until Christ comes. I will not stand for this shoving around."

That ended the meeting. Later, Neely told Vice President Barkley: "The wraps are off now. I am not going to stand for McCarran's bluff. I am going to do everything in my power to get that bill out of his committee. I will work with the Republicans or anyone else to do that."

TB Singapore Menace

Singapore (AP)—The director of the Singapore Anti-Tuberculosis Association Clinic says this crown colony has the highest rate of active, positive tuberculosis of any city in the world. Dr. G. H. Lack of Interest in Lewis' Control of Coal Viewed as Strange Situation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 18—It's strange how little interest either President Truman or the Democratic administration has taken in the fact that a large labor union is today controlling production in the coal industry.

The Department of Justice hasn't made a move to invoke the anti-trust laws even though the Supreme Court of the United States has never passed directly on the issues raised in the three-day-week in the coal industry imposed by the United Mine Workers Union.

It remained for Senator Willis Robertson, of Virginia, Democrat and one of the non-radical group in the Senate, to institute an inquiry in the Senate banking and currency committee on various phases of the monopoly operating in the coal mines.

Mr. Robertson has called many witnesses and the evidence is indisputable—there is an actual control of production and the work week by a single labor union.

The administration did not hesitate to proceed with much less statutory power than it has in the anti-trust laws today when it battled against the work stoppage which occurred in the coal mines a couple years ago. Some rather ambiguous statutes then had to be called into use for that proceeding.

Today, however, the anti-trust laws are broad enough to enter a proceeding. These laws say that monopoly and restraint of trade cannot be excused by any person in interstate commerce. The court interpretations that, where a labor dispute exists, labor unions are immune from prosecution under anti-trust laws have been at best an excuse for not taking action. But the fact is that the anti-trust decisions of the courts regarding labor unions relate primarily to interruptions growing out of strikes. No strike is in progress in the coal fields today.

An open statement has been made of an intent "to stabilize" working conditions in the coal business.

Senator Robertson says: "Granting that a union has the legal right to bargain nationally in regard to wages and the hours during which a particular employee may work, we do not believe it was ever intended that the right should carry with it the right to restrict production and thereby force the nation to pay for its coal during which a particular mining operation may work in any way to dictate the amount of time during which an owner may have use of the various mining facilities and tools in which he may have invested."

Thurman Arnold, former assistant attorney general under the New Deal, told the Senate committee:

"I think that wages and hours is a legitimate union activity, anything that concerns wages and hours. When, however, this wages and hours business is used as a pretext to restrict production, and to control over management and production, it then falls, or should fall, upon the prohibitions of the Sherman Act as an illegitimate activity of labor."

Mr. Arnold, when in the Department of Justice, prosecuted labor unions guilty of monopoly but he never was presented with as clear a case as exists today in the coal industry and hence he didn't win in the courts. There is nothing to prevent the Department of Justice from trying again—unless it is afraid of antagonizing labor-union votes controlled by labor-union bosses.

Industry-wide bargaining is already raising many issues. In New York where a fast-track board appointed by President Truman is inquiring into the dispute in the steel industry, it turns out that the national steelworkers union has the economic power to force a level of wages which will be uniformly applied to large and small businesses alike and thus bankrupt the smaller steel companies which are now operating in the red. This is another form of economic monopoly utilized by national labor unions.

Congress has legislated on many abstract questions affecting the public interest and welfare. The House Judiciary Committee, in ready raising many issues, is now including into their next monopoly bill that it hasn't spent very much time on labor-union monopolies. Evidently "equal justice under law" is growing a bit obsolete hereabouts.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

New York, Aug. 17—Yes, I know, the desk thinks those pictures are full of human interest but the next time some dizzy female calls up the precinct to send the emergency squad tearing through the streets to lift the manhole cover and rescue her uppers or her diamond ring from a sewer, I hope the skipper will take charge and tell her that is no proper function of our brave lads nor, for that matter, of any department of our government including the department of sanitation, the bureau of streets and sewers and the custodian of lost property.

I hope I have seen my last new picture of a bunch of good cops dredging muck out of a sewer and sifting it by hand to recover something that somebody had the carelessness to let fall, because it isn't good for the coppers or the people who look to the police to stand between them and harm.

into any excavation or gap between buildings to rescue any kites.

We had, at the last census, taken by Harold J. Jones, no doubt, and at enormous expense you may be sure, 1,085,344-plus kittens and cats in the metropolitan area of the city of New York. I think.

Anyway, we had an awful lot of cats, most kittens and the state of New York, the United States and the Pan-American Union showed that approximately half of them had got tired or had fallen down holes or got wedged between buildings at some time or other and had been rescued by the cops or agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

If the S.P.C.A. wants to go in for that kind of animalism, write me, I'll be glad to help.

Although I can't see that anyone is being cruel to a fool cat which has got itself into a jam and is now yowling for help.

Critically consisting of tying a couple of tons of cops to the tails and throwing them over a clothesline. I don't hold with that but before you pull me on the proposition let me enter my contention that it can't be done because those tons would get the idea long before you could knot them together and you would be hanged before you had time to go to tearing off in opposite directions. However, that would be cruelty if it were feasible and I say let the S.P.C.A. devote its fine resources and splendid manpower to the work of abating such and in snarling cats with long poles or on up from the poles and then they are all gone getting themselves. But the cops. Include the cops out of that work.

As Pegler Sees It

to do in such cases, don't you? They ought to up with a load of 20-gauge No. 8's and blow the subject out of its difficulty. Sudden death no loss to the community; and, if you have in mind some objection on the ground of mutuality, what is your position on the emergency in which the cops, acting in the public interest, draw a running bead on some ratty little bum who has just nudged a citizen, and blow his head off? Do you disapprove such gunplay by our brave lads in blue? Bystanders for those things happen. It has to be so. The cops can't plan the time and place of the extermination of such vermin and it seems to me, judging by the gleeful expressions on the spectators in such news-pics, that the public has a pretty sturdy tolerance.

I guess you know how cats rate out on the farm and the countryside. People are no more brutal nor primitive there than people are in town but when a barn-cat or a house-cat gets ideas about ground-birds they just rub them out with no more regret or reluctance than they feel in liquidating chicks or rabbits. Game warden are always after them and the law lets them knock off cats a hundred yards from the nearest habitation just on suspicion.

But in town, and especially in New York, we turn out cops who ought to be engaged in the praiseworthy public duty of beating up pickets or playing canasta in the back room or eating up on the days off that they missed policing parades and take stills and television of them hanging from high places by their eyelashes and angling with special poles with snarls on the far end and saying, "here, kitty-kitty-kitty" in that effeminate trill that is supposed to appeal to cats. Then the cat is rescued and tenderly brought to earth by some guy with a couple of citations for bravery and it turns out that nobody owns the damn thing. It is just another of those herds of surplus or overcast cats that enjoy a strange immunity under our laws.

You never hear of a dog getting tired. What's the matter with us, anyway? Taking up the time, risking the lives of good cops when it is the simplest thing imaginable to pop a shell into the gun and wham!

Government has got enough to do. Change the baby. Cook lunch for kids in school because their mothers are too shiftless. Yes, shiftless. Tell you how to identify birds' eggs. Medicate your sow. Enough to do without rescuing tired cats.

Big Indian Votes To Sell School at Public Auction

A special school meeting of the voters of former Common School District of Big Indian was held last week and it was decided by the voters of the district to close the school permanently as of June 30, 1949, and to dispose of the school building at a public auction.

The date of the sale is to be decided by the Board of Education of the Ontario Central School. The people in attendance at the meeting voted to turn over all the available equipment now in the school for use in the schools now operating in the Ontario school district.

Fred D. Cure, Pine Hill, president of the Central School Board of Education, acted as chairman of the meeting. Joseph Donahue and Stanley Osterhoudt of Big Indian acted as tellers, and John H. Moehle, of Phoenix, was clerk.

It was disclosed that no deed can be found for the property. Consequently, the sale of the building at public auction will be delayed until the board's attorney, Vincent G. Connolly of Kingston, makes a search for a deed.

A similar school meeting will be held in the Bushnellville schoolhouse Tuesday, August 23, at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of closing the school permanently and disposing of the school building.

This is the fourth meeting of voters of former Common School districts who desire to sell their school buildings. The Birch Creek school, in the town of Shandaken, and the Broadstreet Hollow school, in the town of Lexington, were sold at public auction last year.

The proceeds of these sales, less any expense of the sale, are distributed to the taxpayers of the district, according to the last preceding assessment roll.

Wife of Chinese Gets Preference As Girl's Mother

Boston, Aug. 18 (AP)—The future of a chubby, four-year-old girl who has lived with a Chinese laundryman and his white wife for two years posed a "million dollar" problem today for a probate judge.

Custody of Judith Ann Rouff is sought by her mother, Mrs. Dora Rouff, 24, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ho, who have had the child since 1947, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donnelly of Burlington, R. I., who have adopted Judith's sister.

Taking the case under advisement yesterday, Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., said it is "more disturbing than a $2,000,000 will case because it involves the $2,000,000 future of a little girl."

The judge's statement came after he tried in an interview in his chamber to establish which of the petitioners the pigtailed child loved best.

Judy had hardly entered the chamber when she decided "I guess I'll go now," the judge asked.

"My mummy," the little girl replied.

Judy raced past her own mother into the arms of Mrs. Ho when the judge led her to the courtroom door.

Judge Wilson said he would not make a decision immediately, but added "as far as the petitioners are concerned * * * Mrs. Ho has made an unexpectedly good impression."

"The natural mother of this child," he said, "does not impress me. She has been pretty close to abandoning any claims she may have."

Mrs. Rouff gave the child to the laundryman and his wife after she had been abandoned by her husband. She said her mother was ready to give her and the child a home now.

Mrs. Ho said she could see nothing wrong with the child having a white woman as a mother and a Chinese as a father.

"I think it is all right," she said. "We live in a different age now. Children are taught in school that they are all Americans."

Ho operates a small but successful laundry in Boston. He taught the child to speak both English and Chinese.

B'nai B'rith Plans Boxing Card Sept. 8

After a meeting, Wednesday evening, David Popick, co-chairman with Bill Singer of B'nai B'rith boxing committee, said the organization plans to revive the ring sport with a show in the municipal auditorium on Thursday night, Sept. 8.

B'nai B'rith canceled its summer shows when baseball started at the municipal stadium so there would be no conflict. "Now that the diamond season is winding up," Popick said, "we feel that sports lovers will need a major sport for recreation."

Popick advised that Ben M. Becker of Albany, boxing champion of the Adirondack A.A.U., would notify him regarding a lineup of first rate scrappers in the near future to appear on the Sept. 8 card.

000 dwellings there. Los Angeles received a go-ahead for 10,000. Two other cities—Norfolk, Va., and Galveston, Tex.—were allotted 3,000 and 600 dwellings respectively.

State's Position

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—New York state's standby residential rent control law cannot become operative if place-meal federal decontrol of rents occurs.

The state law, capitol sources reported again today, can become operative only if all U. S. rent regulation is eliminated.

The New York law, originally adopted in 1946, cannot become operative in the wake of partial federal decontrol, even though all of New York state should be released from existing federal regulation.

Tight Woods, federal housing expediter, said yesterday in Cleveland that budget cuts would force his office to end rent regulations in one-third of the areas now controlled.

About 1,000 counties, scattered throughout the country, including many in New York, still have federal rent control.

Woods declared, however, that the areas to be decontrolled would be those with populations of less than 100,000.

The capitol sources said this meant the decontrols would affect small towns and that New York state, with its heavily populated rent control areas, would get less decontrol than other states.

The New York law specifically says that state residential rent controls "shall not be or become operative."

"So long as rent control established by the federal government is in force and effect whether or not by the terms of such federal act * * * it is limited or confined to, or excepts, any rent control area or other area or region or any type, category or other classification of housing accommodations heretofore or hereafter subjected to control of rents."

Plane Survivors Reach U. S., Bessey Denies Report

Windsor Locks, Conn., Aug. 18 (AP)—Eight survivors of an airplane crash off the coast of Ireland Monday arrived at Bradley Field here by plane early today.

Among them was Ruth Nichols, the noted woman flyer.

She said she was at the controls of the DC-4 transoceanic airliner part of the way on the trip from home Ireland.

It was the same kind of plane that crashed off the coast of Ireland Monday. Eight persons perished. There were 50 survivors.

Miss Nichols said she also had been at the controls of the ill-fated plane for about two hours before it reached Ireland, but was not in the pilot room at the time the plane ran out of gas, and had to be ditched.

She would make no comment on her previous statement that she might claim a record as the first woman to serve as pilot on a round-the-world commercial air trip. She said she planned to hold a news conference when she reached New York later today.

Other survivors who arrived here were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dear, of San Lorenzo, Calif., and five crew members, of the lost plane. They were:

Capt. Edward C. Bessey of Wethersfield, Conn.; Second Pilot John W. Moore, of Suffolk, Conn.; Navigator James A. Bauman, of Great Barrington, Mass.; Radio Operator Robert D. Thomas of Durham, Conn., and Purser Ralph H. Elischer of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Miss Nichols said that during the time she sat at the controls the ship was operated by an automatic pilot.

Capt. Ed Bessey, commander of the downed airliner, reassured, as he had in Galway, that Miss Nichols at "no time had control."

He said the plane was controlled by Richard Hall, first officer, all the time Miss Nichols sat in the co-pilot's seat and that this was "about six hours before the crash."

At the time of the water landing the plane was being flown by Capt. Bessey, with Hall in the co-pilot's seat.

Tito Is Told He gave this account of the behind-the-scenes argument within the administration high command that led at last to the favorable decision for Yugoslavia.

Secretary of State Acheson strongly supported the Yugoslav plea on the ground that the plant is vitally needed to prevent Yugoslavia's recovery program from collapsing and possibly causing Marshal Tito's downfall.

Acheson argued that the plant, a blooming and steeling mill, would not increase Yugoslavia's steel making capacity to any great extent but would aid it in refining and processing steel ingots turned out by the blast furnaces Yugoslavia already has.

Acheson acknowledged that there was always a chance Tito might reconcile with Moscow and thus make the plant available to Russia. He insisted this was a calculated risk the administration had to take as part of its world wide campaign to stop Soviet expansion.

Secretary of Defense Johnson, on the basis of figures furnished by his department, maintained the steel mill would greatly increase Yugoslavia's war strength, and thus was a bad risk to American security.

Johnson argued that if Yugoslavia wanted finished steel it could buy it from American companies which soon would have a surplus. A blooming mill, he continued, could eventually be used to make better steel for Yugoslav guns and tanks as well as rails and structural steel—the purposes for which the Yugoslav government requested it.

Johnson dropped his objections with the proviso that the decision be reviewed one year later just before shipment in the light of conditions existing in the world at that time.

Acheson agreed.

The plant is to be built by the Continental Foundry and Machinery Co. in Pittsburgh.

Union Criticizes

and his family. This method has a direct bearing on the physical well-being of a workingman's entire family and is definitely contrary to the much publicized aims of a hospital and its staff.

The usual hospital policy of charging all the traffic will bear for the services it renders and then hiring its labor at the cheapest possible wage is one of the reasons why labor unions are advocating a national policy of health insurance. The millions of dollars the American Medical Association is spending for propaganda purposes would be better spent if it was used to better the standard of living by paying its employees a decent wage rate.

The members of Ellenville Local 1038 of this council are solidly behind the program of the town of Waverling in its efforts to establish a truly community medical center.

Your policy of precluding a union workman from soliciting employment on your project whereby he could be gainfully employed at standard wages and under good working conditions will not be forgotten.

We sincerely hope the Town Board will not hesitate in its efforts to advance its own program.

Very truly yours,

Mr. Truman said "most of the favorable testimony" concerning Vaughan has been held behind closed doors while the unfavorable side has been produced at open hearings.

The hearings, he went on, have been behind closed doors "particularly if they were friendly to Vaughan."

He went on to say that much of the unfavorable stories have resulted from "leaks" from within the committee.

Some of the newsmen took issue with the President, saying that virtually all the recent hearings have been public.

One woman reporter said she had covered many open hearings. Vaughan himself was present when Mr. Truman spoke. He stood behind a table to the rear of the President's desk—between Rear Adm. Robert L. Dennison, naval aide, and Brig. Gen. Robert B. Landry, air force aide.

Vaughan was absent last week when Mr. Truman defended the army aide. The President took occasion then to tell reporters that Vaughan's absence was not due to any fear of the newsmen.

2-Fighter Planes Collide in Air

Sag Harbor, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—Two air force twin-engine fighter planes collided at 8,000 feet near here today. One man was seen to parachute.

State police said they had an unconfirmed report that two bodies had been recovered near the scene on the north shore of Long Island about 100 miles east of New York city.

Mitchell Field authorities said the all-weather Mustang planes—F52s—carried crews of two men each. They were on a training clears yesterday that he will ask the Senate to reconsider the slash. The conference committee approved a total of $17,500,000 for Woods' agency as against $28,750,000 asked by the Budget Bureau and $21,667,000 originally voted by the Senate.

As the federal government moved to curtail activities in one housing field it pressed ahead in another.

The newly-enacted long range public housing program moved into long gear with approval already granted for construction of 34,600 houses in four cities.

The dwellings will be built during the next two years under supervision of the Public Housing Administration. The units are designed for rent to low-income families unable to afford adequate housing from private enterprise.

Chicago leads the list of cities granted authority to launch their own programs. Approval was given yesterday to construct 21, 000 dwellings there. Los Angeles received a go-ahead for 10,000. Two other cities—Norfolk, Va., and Galveston, Tex.—were allotted 3,000 and 600 dwellings respectively.

State's Position

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—New York state's standby residential rent control law cannot become operative if place-meal federal decontrol of rents occurs.

The state law, capitol sources reported again today, can become operative only if all U. S. rent regulation is eliminated.

The New York law, originally adopted in 1946, cannot become operative in the wake of partial federal decontrol, even though all of New York state should be released from existing federal regulation.

Tight Woods, federal housing expediter, said yesterday in Cleveland that budget cuts would force his office to end rent regulations in one-third of the areas now controlled.

About 1,000 counties, scattered throughout the country, including many in New York, still have federal rent control.

Woods declared, however, that the areas to be decontrolled would be those with populations of less than 100,000.

The capitol sources said this meant the decontrols would affect small towns and that New York state, with its heavily populated rent control areas, would get less decontrol than other states.

The New York law specifically says that state residential rent controls "shall not be or become operative."

"So long as rent control established by the federal government is in force and effect whether or not by the terms of such federal act * * * it is limited or confined to, or excepts, any rent control area or other area or region or any type, category or other classification of housing accommodations heretofore or hereafter subjected to control of rents."

Health Department Plans to Inoculate All County Dogs

Plans are being completed for dog inoculation work to begin the first week in September under the direction of the Ulster County Board of Health. This program will be carried on until at least 70 per cent of the known dogs within the county have been inoculated against rabies.

Inoculations have been completed in the townships of Denning and Hardenburgh.

Effectiveness of dog inoculation has been proven in the county by the recovery of only one rabid dog during the period of endemic rabies, although rabies has been proven to be present apparently in a sizeable proportion of the wildlife and numerous dogs have been exposed to infection.

Last year a campaign to inoculate dogs of the county resulted in over 70 per cent of the known dogs being protected and a consequent drop in rabies among the dog population of the county. The fact that rabies is in wildlife predominantly does not mean that the cities and villages are free from danger. Dogs which are allowed to run are faced with the possibility of rabies unless protected by inoculation. This fact is pointed out in a recent report from the Board of Health which states that rabid foxes have been found within village limits and one suspected fox which did not prove to be rabid, however, was killed not long ago on the Strand in Kingston near the Kingston sewage treatment works.

All dog owners should plan to have their animals inoculated.

In the July monthly report of the Board of Health, Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, reported on the inspection of children's camps and resorts of the county and also on inspection of streams which are used as bathing areas. Samples taken along the Wallkill at Gardiner and Tilton, at Hurley and Glenierie on the Esopus, and at High Falls and Rosendale on the Rondout indicated that while there may be some pollution locally at points near villages, the general stream picture "is not one of gross pollution" and the streams come within generally accepted standards for recreational use.

The statistical portion of the July report shows a total of 57 communicable diseases reported for the month as follows:

Chickens 8, dysentery 1, infectious mononucleosis 8, mumps 3, pertussis 15, pneumonia 3, scarlet fever including strep, sore throat 3. There had

Republicans Ask For Open Caucus

At a meeting of the Republican committeemen of the town of Marlborough held last evening in the Grange Hall in Stone Ridge, a petition was presented signed by some 400 Republican voters of the town petitioning for the open caucus system of nominating town candidates. The town of Marlborough for some years past has been operating under the closed caucus system, whereby the town candidates are recommended by the committeemen. It was one of three townships in county operating under the closed caucus system.

Following presentation of the petition the committeemen accepted the request and the town will hold an open caucus on September 15 at which time the Republican party will name its town candidates in open caucus in which all enrolled Republican voters of the town may participate.

the 4-H Club department said that he knows of no proof of any "collusion," and that he cannot make any additional statement until he checks the reports with Edmund R. Bower, 4-H Club agent.

Bower was not available for comment today, as he and other 4-H officials were attending a district dress review in Poughkeepsie, the 4-H Club office in Kingston reported.

C. C. DuMont, Jr., president of the Ulster County Agricultural Society which sponsors the fair, said he had not heard enough of the details of the situation to make a comment at this time.

Publicity 'Weak'
Albert Kurdt, secretary of the society, said that he also had not heard many of the details but that he suspected the "publicity was a little weak" and that there should have been more paid advertising to attract a larger number of buyers, as well as more personal contacts made.

William S. Keyser, of Sweet and Keyser, auctioneers, had no comment to offer. (Sweet and Keyser donate their time to the auction without charge to the 4-H Clubs. They are called in only for the auction and are not responsible for promotion of the sale.)

Otherwise, the annual fair was termed a success by all concerned. Secretary Kurdt said that while early in the day the attendance did not appear to be up to that of last year, the crowd increased during the afternoon until it was "about equal" last year's attendance.

For the first time, cattle and poultry were provided with tent shelters. The Farm Bureau today complimented the Ulster County Highway Department and the Kingston Board of Public Works for their assistance in erecting these and the other shelters, tables and benches.

One large commercial exhibitor reported a large number of sales made from the fairgrounds, when in previous years the exhibit attracted many inquiries but no actual orders.

Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren reported to Secretary Kurdt that there were more automobiles visiting the fair than last year, but that police were able to supervise parking and keep traffic on Lucas avenue moving without undue difficulty.

Aged Woman Is Reported In Critical Condition Today

Caroline V. O. Crosby, 86, of 209 Fair street, who was found in her home overcome by gas fumes last night, was reported in critical condition at Kingston Hospital this afternoon.

Police were notified at 10:09 p. m. by Robert Kennedy of 203 Fair street, that he had not seen the woman around the house for some time and Officers Raymond Wells and George Loughran were dispatched to the house.

The report indicated the officers had some difficulty getting into the house and Officer Wells reported that the woman was found there lying on a couch and was unconscious.

The officers found that two burners of a gas stove and a jet in its oven had been turned on and a wall gas light was burning. They reported it a "miracle" that the gas in the house had not caused an explosion, because of the wall light.

The fire department and Central Hudson Gas & Electric emergency crews were notified and with the police applied artificial respiration.

Those who entered the house said today they were mystified over the fact that an explosion had not occurred, and the officers, who were the first to enter, also realized they had gone into the building under an extremely dangerous condition.

Capt. William T. Roedell, made a later inspection of the house, and took necessary steps to protect valuables there, during the woman's absence.

The woman was found in the front room of the house, and the kitchen was a short distance to its rear.

Deputy Chief Harold Sanford, of central station, and Capt. Edwin Murphy and Fireman John Carle, from Wiltwyck station, answered the call to the fire department. Frank Eyer and Arthur Nash of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., went to the house with the company's emergency unit.

Hospital reports this afternoon indicated that the woman failed to revive throughout the day.

Will Sing Benefit Folksongs Aug. 20

ROSE BERNARD

Woodstock, Aug. 18—Rose Bernard, folk singer, will give a benefit performance for the Artists Welfare Fund, Saturday, Aug. 20, in the Woodstock Art Gallery at 8:30 p. m.

Her program will include Palestinian, Mexican and Yiddish folk songs. Following a recent performance at the University of Indiana, Frank O. Beck, committee on religion wrote Miss Bernard, "You not only taught us some rare lessons about the heart of your faith and your people but also inspired us to a respect and emulation. You have a great mission. You interpret the ancient values of your religion, make realistic the never dying folk way and tradition of your vital faith, and do it all with the skill of a great artist and the passion of a real teacher."

Rose Bernard's songs are presented in their original language, but she gives a descriptive commentary in English. Her program includes ritual hymns and chants, sung in ancient Hebrew, Aramaic and English of all the Jewish festivals, and Yiddish folk songs of the Jewish people at work and play. Many of these, she has revived and introduced anew to Jewish and non-Jewish people.

Actor Describes Middle East Trip

Woodstock, Aug. 18—Houston Richards, prominent local actor, vividly described his impressions and experiences gained while touring with a U.S.O. group in the middle east, during and immediately following World War 2, Monday evening in the Dutch Reformed Church Hall.

A small but absorbed audience was told in dramatic fashion of the wonders of Cairo, Egypt, the group's first stop on the seven months' trip. Of all the places visited including Tehran, Iran, Dakar, Marseilles, Bengali, Tripoli, Tunis, Carthage, Casablanca, Nice, Cannes, Paris, Tel-Aviv, and Jerusalem, the latter left the most lasting impression.

"I had a terrific feeling of awe and reverence as I entered the old city of Jerusalem and visited the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, built over the tomb of Christ. . . you can imagine the feeling one gets. . . it is tremendous," said the narrator.

The Walling Wall, golden gates, Garden of Gethsemane, Mount of Olives, The Way of the Cross, and many other places of Biblical import were spoken of by Richards before telling of the beauty of the new modernistic part of Jerusalem, with its fine hospitals and other buildings. He mentioned his feeling of qualification when he noticed the names of certain Americans, who had donated large sums of money, appearing on the buildings.

He and the nine others in his group traveled by plane in which was also transported the scenery for their production. The audience played to, composed for the most part of soldiers numbering at times as many as 5,000, were the finest he had ever encountered. One of the best audiences he stated was several thousand boys who came off duty at 8 a. m. and were eager to see a dramatic play. Most of the performances were given in the open. One such was described as what might be termed a battle with the beetles. "There were numerous beetles in the area and every time you opened your mouth to say a word, the beetle would fly in. It slowed the performance a trifle but otherwise made no difference," said Richards.

One of the most beautiful things in Egypt was said to be the Mosque. The seven alabaster pillars and 1,400 lamps were impressive to see as was the small column that revolves. This is for the benefit of the blind because it indicates to them the proper position facing east, to pray to Allah. The jewel collections seen in various parts of the middle east were described as fantastic because of their magnificence. Surprising, too, was the sight of fabulous palaces located in some instances not more than 35 yards away from scenes of dire poverty.

Living conditions as found during the medieval ages were contrasted with those of modern times throughout his entire trip, which was described as a never to be forgotten one.

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church, welcomed Richards and on behalf of the audience, ex-

Million More to Find Jobs In Business Boom This Year

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Business is picking up. By the end of the year it will find room for a million more workers on its payrolls.

These are two of the happy predictions offered you today. They come not only from government men, as you might expect, but also from leaders in industry. Still other optimistic views today include:

Inventories are now pretty well shaken down. Their drop in recent months pulled the nation's total output of goods and services down considerably. But that should mean businesses will start ordering again this fall.

Oilmen expect production to increase shortly—they've already started raising the price of home fuel oil, as the heating season approaches. But they contend the prices have been "abnormally low."

Rayon mills are humming again and owners expect to operate in the black the rest of the year.

Peas Reached
The good news about jobs comes from Labor Secretary Tobin. He thinks the peak of unemployment has been reached. True, with fall there will be fewer jobs on the farms. But at the same time there will be a return to school that will lower the total of those looking for jobs in summer. Also, Tobin thinks businessmen will start buying from manufacturers again, making more work in the mills and factories.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange, Emil Schram, also thinks business is looking up. He sees signs of a pick up, as measured in recent weeks by rising prices on his exchange. Schram tells President Truman that inventories are pretty well shaken down now, which could lay the ground for a healthy upturn in buying later.

The Department of Commerce offers the figures on inventories. During April, May and June inventories dropped to an annual rate of $2.8 billion, from the $4.1 billion in the first three months of this year, and the 1948 level of $4.3 billion.

This shake-down, the department says, was mainly responsible for the drop in the nation's total output of goods and services. At mid-year this gross national product, as total output is called, was down to $256 billion, a drop of 2.5 per cent from the first quarter of the year.

However, the first six months viewed as a whole shows the value of the nation's production of goods and services almost equal to the 1948 average, even if considerably below the booming record in the final six months of last year.

by a local artist, Miss Schechter is the head of the art department, Little Red Schoolhouse, Blocker street, New York city. She received her master's degree from Columbia University and has studied with Hans Hoffman. "I have always done painting and sculpture," said Miss Schechter, "but I wanted to work in metal. I have also worked with Danish silversmiths in New York city."

She stated that her approach in teaching children is experimental in method. "The form they create dictates the tool they use." She has taught children from two years of age and through college years. On the subject of abstract art, Miss Schechter stated that children have a much better grasp of the subject because "children hit at the essence and make that the most dominant thing in the painting. They eliminate anything that is unimportant. Adults are not looking at it with the same basic feeling because they have built up a certain standard through the years. And when you look at abstract art, you have to use a standard that is different."

It was interesting to hear described the reaction of gallery visitors to abstract art which is shown here. Invariably, a visitor asks, "What is it all about?" Miss Schechter is reluctant about giving her own opinions too quickly and encourages the visitor to think about the work and examine it carefully. Then, she asks, "Can you just enjoy it for the color, for a moment?" Her reason for this approach she said is that in her own words, "I feel if you want to educate yourself, it is a growing experience, mentally and spiritually, not just information." She is very reluctant about folding her own ideas and opinions upon others.

She follows to some extent in her local gallery the identical formula used with her pupils. "We never talk in the gallery, until after the visitors have seen the exhibition. When I take my children to museums and galleries, they are free to wander around and look at the exhibitions without any suggestions from me. When we return to the studio, we then have our discussions."

Miss Schechter maintains a permanent exhibition of jewelry in modern designs. Her work is represented in a travelling show sponsored by the Walker Museum. This show will continue its tour of the country until 1950. Her work is also represented in the American Museum of Natural History in the Morgan Hall of Gems.

Of Owen Davies, Miss Schechter said, "I think she is one of the few original artists. She is completely herself and I think her work very exciting."

Sharp, Scholle Acting Praised

Woodstock, Aug. 18.—The performances given by Henry Sharp and Lewis Scholle, as "Gramps" and grandson, Pud, at the Woodstock Playhouse, Tuesday evening, in the opening presentation of "On Borrowed Time" by Paul Osborn, will not soon be forgotten by the first nighters whose approval was spontaneously given.

The play, in two acts, continues through Sunday, August 21st, with a special matinee for children Sunday afternoon.

Naturalness was constant in the tender and appealing companionship of youth and old age. Henry Sharp is an accomplished character player who makes his Julian Northrup, Gramps, role, live.

Louis Scholle, 8, is an amazing youngster who carries his heavy role of Pud like a veteran. He measures up in every way, even to the one missing front tooth, what might be expected of a real boy.

When Pud's parents are killed in an accident, his prissy Aunt Demeteria, nicely done by Florence Bernersford, wishes to take the boy away from Gramps, as she objects to the old man's "cussing and pipe smoking." Her determination becomes even greater when she learns of Pud's trust fund.

Gramps, old and ailing, realizes he must keep alive to prevent Pud's childhood from being spoiled. Fantasy is introduced in the play when death, in the form of the visiting stranger, Mr. Brink calls for him. Gramps tries desperately to outwit death, even to the point where he is considered insane.

Kurt Kassar was an assured and convincing Mr. Brink. In lesser roles, Harold Reisman was charming as Marcia Giles while Fay Sappington was a nice old granny. Persuasive and capable contributions were made by Randolph Echols as Dr. Evans; Harrison Dowd, lawyer Pilbeam; Robert Dustin, Mr. Grimes; Edwin Pigeon and Paul Berkowsky, two workmen; John Seig, sheriff; Lee Barnett, a boy; and Betty, the dog.

Drivers 18 to 25 Warned by State

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Further increases in automobile liability insurance rates in New York state are threatened if drivers in the 18-25 age group don't mend their ways.

Road records of some of these motorists are going from bad to worse, Thomas W. Ryan, director of the State Division of Safety, said yesterday.

"Another upswing in insurance rates is sure to take place," he said, "if these drivers do not curb their tactics, which are proving widespread threats to life and property on the highways."

Rates for cars with drivers under 25 went up 15 to 20 per cent last Monday because of their bad accident record.

Ryan said the worst faults of the youthful drivers are excessive speed and hazardous maneuvers.

"Their eyesight is acute, reaction time fast and hearing excellent," he said, "yet they sacrifice these advantages by excessive speeds and riding the road with utter disregard of the law."

Roses were among the first of all fragrant flowers to be used as perfume.

A small vial of rose perfume can have as much as 200 pounds of roses in it.

Red Leader Says Discussions Rule

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Discussions in the Communist Party are determined by discussion and not by decree, says a Brooklyn Red leader.

William S. Broms, 19th defense witness in the Communist conspiracy trial, made the statement yesterday under questioning by Federal Judge Harold R. Medina. "Let me see if I get you," said the judge, "Is it your understanding that in the Communist Party nobody ever orders or directs any one else to do anything?"

"Yes," replied Broms. "That is because it is Democratic and people don't like to get orders; that is the point isn't it?" asked the judge.

"That is right," said the witness. The exchange came after Broms denied previous government testimony that a Communist section he headed has been "assigned or ordered" to concentrate its recruiting drive in the transit industry.

"The 11 top Red officials on trial are accused of considering to advocate forcible overthrow of the government."

"The judge asked the witness: 'Did anyone tell you or say to you that it would be a nice thing, if your section concentrated on the transportation industry?'"

A. "Well, not in just that way."

Q. "How did they put it?"

A. "In terms of our section assisting the workers in the New York Central (Railroad) yard."

Q. "So if anybody asks you, 'were you ordered to do it?' You say 'no,' was it assigned to you?"

A. "Yes, 'no,' were you directed to do it?" you say 'no.' But if they ask whether somebody mentioned it, you say 'yes.'"

A. "Of course, somebody mentioned it. It was a constant discussion."

"All right," snapped the judge. Broms said he helped organize the Young Communist League at the University of Minnesota while he was a freshman there in 1934. Asked if university authorities were aware of his activity, he said he did not know, but that his activities were "very aboveboard."

A year later, he said, he joined the Communist Party and became

Health for All

Why Complete Rest?

The ability to rest is an art, and in the rush of modern civilization it has almost become a lost art. Some of us never really learn how to rest and others learn it the hard way when they are forced into complete rest to combat a serious illness.

As a matter of fact, complete rest is basic to the cure of most ills of the human body. Medicine, serums, drugs, diet, all play an important part in fighting sickness and disease, but they would be far less effective without the physical rest that is necessary to the restoration of health.

Sometimes it is difficult for a tuberculous patient to understand why he must rest constantly and completely, especially if his disease is in an early stage and he does not look or feel very ill.

The patient's lung has a big job to do in the constant intake of oxygen to keep the body supplied. When at complete rest, the tuberculous patient breathes fewer times and less deeply than when he is moving about, laughing or talking, or even just sitting up, and therefore, there is less strain on the lung. As its work is cut down, the damaged lung is given a chance to heal.

Once the tuberculous patient begins to rest and relax completely, mentally as well as physically, all the body's strength is marshaled to fight the tuberculous germs and their destructive work.

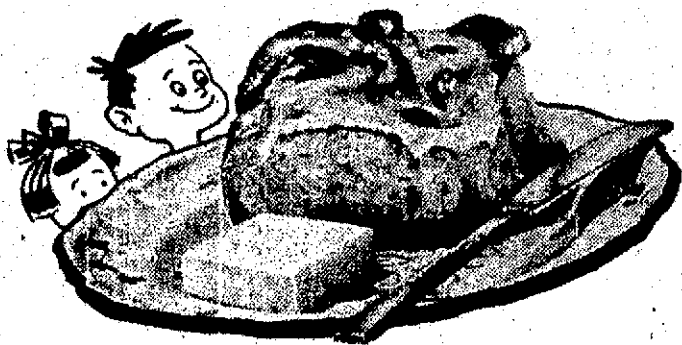

The patient can best get their complete rest so necessary to his cure in a good sanatorium or tuberculosis hospital. The doctor may advise additional treatment, but rest will still be basic to the tuberculous patient's cure.

Lesson Hand on the Play
South	West
1	Double
4	Double
Double	Pass
Opening—A	A

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Before discussing the lesson on the play of today's hand, I just want to call your attention to one bid. When West doubles one heart, North bids two hearts. He does not redouble. The reason for this is to make it a little difficult for East to get into the bidding. Also, North is trying to tell his partner that all his hand is good for is hearts. North and South can make five hearts. South, however, elects to double four spades, instead of bidding five hearts.

The ace of clubs is cashed. South then leads the queen of diamonds which is won in dummy with the ace. The hand now looks rather hopeless and it is, unless declarer starts to think. If declarer leads a trump at this point, South will win and lead a small diamond. North will win and return a club, which South will ruff.

Declarer knows from the bidding that South in all probability has both the ace of spades and the ace of hearts. Therefore, declarer should lead the king of hearts from dummy, and discard the losing seven of diamonds. In this way he breaks up the communication between the North and South hands. South will win the trick, but now when he leads a diamond, declarer can trump. He can lead a trump which South will win and then East and West can make four spades doubled.

So once more let me remind you how important it is to keep the bidding in mind when you are playing the hand. The bidding in today's hand marks all of the high cards in the South hand.

Parolee, Cabbie Held for Holdup Of Subway Booth

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—An 18-year-old parolee and a Negro taxi-cab driver were arrested last night in connection with a holdup at a subway change booth in the Bronx last Saturday in which one of two bandits was shot dead by a transit patrolman.

John Watson, 18, of 532 East 136th street, was booked on charges of felonious assault and robbery after he was arrested on a street near his home.

He is accused of holding up Ingram S. Brown, change booth agent, at the 149th street-Grand Concourse station of the East Side I.R.T. subway.

In the robbery, William Stetel, 34, of 621 East 135th street, the Bronx, was shot and killed by transit Patrolman Charles M. McCartin.

Detective Lieutenant Donald Carey said Watson, under questhoroughly implicated Bratten S. Pearson, 49-year-old Negro cab driver, of 100 West 124th street, in the holdup.

He was kept under surveillance and arrested last night after questioning of Watson. He was booked on charges of acting in concert in an assault and robbery.

Accidents Get Their Goat

Munich (AP)—Col. James H. Kelley, of Chicago, Illinois, Director of the U. S. Military Government of Munich, found a new means of assisting the Army's safety drive.

Besides giving awards to the unit with the least number of traffic accidents each month, he punishes the unit with the greatest number by making its soldiers care for an evil-smelling billy-goat for thirty days.

China Protests Anglo Warships Violate Waters
Canton, Aug. 18 (AP)—China protested today that British warships, displaying a belligerent attitude toward Nationalist naval units, had violated Chinese territorial waters.
The protest was handed to the British embassy yesterday by the Chinese foreign office as these developments came swiftly in the Asian mainland war:
1. Foochow, big port opposite Formosa, fell to the Reds.
2. The Nationalists admitted withdrawing from the Miao Islands, 240 miles east of Tientsin. The islands had been used by Nationalist naval units to blockade northern Communist held ports.
3. Communist armies mounted a big offensive in Hunan province.
4. Americans and other foreigners fled from Canton. The U. S. consulate general expects to be closed by tomorrow.
The Chinese note of protest to Great Britain was given to John Coghill, embassy representative in Canton.
The note warned Britain against repetition. It said the British destroyer Concord was sighted off the mouth of the Yangtze river in territorial waters on July 31. After dark, the destroyer moved into the mouth of the river, the note said.
(The Concord that night kept a rendezvous with the British sloop Amethyst, which had been held on the Yangtze between Shanghai and Nanking for months by Communist shore guns. The Amethyst escaped in a running fight down the wide river.)
The Chinese note said that any British warship entering territorial waters must have the approval of the Nationalist government.
Fall of Foochow was first announced by the official Central News Agency from Taipei, capital of Formosa.
In Nationalist Hands
At the same time an army spokesman in Canton vigorously asserted the big port city still was in the hands of Nationalist forces. The spokesman warned newsmen, especially foreign correspondents, they were liable to arrest if they published "false news."

Nationalist southeast China headquarters at Taipei, Formosa, announced all Nationalist forces in the Miao Islands off the north China coast had pulled out.
The Hunan offensive was reported in official dispatches. They said Red Gen. Lin Piao was regrouping four armies totalling 120,000 men west of the Canton-Hankow railroad apparently for a drive southward.
Their objective probably would be to cut the escape route of Nationalist Gen. Fui Chung-hsi into Kwangsi province and bottle up his forces.
The American consulate general plans to follow the Nationalist government to Chungking, wartime capital far inland. Most of the Chinese officials leaving Canton have gone to Chungking although some have gone to Formosa where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has set up his headquarters.
((Dispatches from Shanghai and Nanking said Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist leader, had decided to make Peiping the Red capital of China when a Red sponsored coalition government was set up.
(Mao, the dispatches quoted Shanghai and Nanking newspapers as saying, would rename the old Chinese capital Peking, the name it bore for 500 years before Chiang Kai-shek changed it in 1928. In Chinese Peking means northern capital. Peiping, the name chosen by Chiang for the historic old city, means northern peace.)

Chile Gets Powers To Cope With Student Rioting
Santiago, Chile, Aug. 18 (AP)—Emergency powers asked by the government, to cope with bloody rioting that has gripped Santiago for 48 hours went into effect with Congressional approval today.
The Chamber of Deputies approved the request 95 to 10 after an all night session.
Disagreement over a half cent boost in bus fares caused the rioting, which has cost seven lives. The government charges Communist agitators have fanned the unrest.
The new law empowers the government to move citizens from one part of the country to the other; to arrest suspects in their homes without court order; and to suspend or restrict the right of public assembly and the liberty of press and radio. It is effective for six months and may be extended.
Meanwhile the university students federation defied government orders to return to class tomorrow and proclaimed a student's strike.
The fare increase which has precipitated all the trouble was from 140 pesos to 160 pesos (3.2 cents to 3.6 cents).
The cabinet declared the bus fare was boosted only after a careful survey showed it was needed. Few buses were operating in Santiago following the smashing of their windows. Some empty bus depots were set afire. Thousands of persons were unable to get to work. Merchants have closed their shops and shuttered their windows.

Forsyth Park Movie
Weather permitting, the movie "The Duke of West Point" will be shown in Forsyth Park this evening at 8:15. Andrew J. Murphy, III, will be in charge of the projection of the movie which is sponsored by the Recreation Department. The major theme of the story deals with a plebe who sacrifices his standing with the cadets to help a roommate. There's comedy, pathos, and thrills in store for all who see the "Duke of West Point." John Fontaine and Louis Hayward play the leading roles.

Hunt "Monster"
Sydney (AP)—The Loch Ness Monster, or something—is terrorizing the unimaginative folks of Mountain River, on the fringe of Tasmania's "Unknown Corner," which is the uninhabited extreme southwest of Australia's island state. Except for a posse of 20 men scouring the hills, Mountain River people keep indoors at night because of a "phantom" animal which makes no tracks yet neighs like a low-throated horse.

Dutchess Fair Opens August 30

Rhinebeck—Fairs generally try to avoid fires as they would a plague but the Dutchess County Fair, scheduled here Aug. 30-Sept. 3, will have a series of fires as one of its feature demonstrations.

Dutchess Volunteer Firemen and the Fire Chiefs Association will stage an up to the minute dramatic demonstration at 7 p. m. Sept. 3, by burning down a house on the fairgrounds.

During the course of the fire they will demonstrate rescue work, use of fog, foam and water wet. They will show how to go about combating petroleum, gas and electric fires.

Throughout the week firemen will man a firemanic booth at the fair demonstrating the latest fire-fighting tools and equipment. They will demonstrate how the county's mutual aid system works and have an exhibit on fire prevention.

The firemanic exhibits and demonstrations will be one of many outstanding features of the 104th annual Dutchess fair. There will be two days of harness racing, a two-day horse show, wildlife show, pony show, the O. C. Buck carnival, a cattle show featuring six breeds and more than 600 head of cattle, fruit, vegetable, poultry, swine and sheep shows and the largest 4-H Club display to be found at any county fair in New York state.

Dedication of a new $50,000 4-H Club exhibit hall and dormitory will be a feature of the opening day of the fair.

Entertainment features include the Jack Kochman Thrill Show, numerous vaudeville acts and the Horace Heidt Stars on Parade.

Children will be admitted free on the first and last days of the fair.

Cottonseed Fiber

A new synthetic fiber from the protein of cottonseed has been spun experimentally, announces the Department of Agriculture. The new fiber is different from the familiar cotton fiber, has a natural tint of yellow or light orange, can take dyes well and can be colored as desired, they say. Chemists suggest that it can be blended with cotton, wool, rayon, or nylon to give mixed fabrics more softness.

He made a pass at one recently with the result seen above—his face almost completely obscured by the porcupine's sharp quills. Dr. Robert Rea, who is removing them, says Ace will live—a sadder and wiser pup.

A HOUSE IN THE CREVANNES

(By Jeanne Salteil)

Life in a small French village, as seen through the eyes of a young French girl during several summers spent there with her parents, her little sister and her dog. Miss Salteil makes life in Fougayrolles in the Crevannes seem most enjoyable in spite of its lack of modern conveniences. Only three houses in the village of one thousand souls have running water and a "comfort"—as for the others—the brook.

However the Salteil family did manage to secure a picturesque old peasant house set in the hillside with its street entrance at the lower level under a Romanesque arch of the cellar "La tonisse" and the second floor opening into the garden. A beautiful house with its warm, red-tiled roofs, which leaked. But the problem of the "comfort" was a tough one. The local masons did not understand the septic tank inside the house and the toilet. It should, if any, be the other way round. However after a while water was installed, the roof mended and more attention could be given to summer joys and the garden. One hitch there—in the evening the old men would make improper use of the garden wall. That was finally settled by painting nettles at strategic points.

The characters and customs are typically French and mostly amusing. Everyone interested in everyone else's business—friendly but very nosy. There was the Mayor who is also the doctor, and the schemes of his stingy wife; Everyman's Marie with a touch of profligacy but now a respectable laundress and self-appointed Miss-stress of Ceremonies at all funerals; Miss Rosa, the seamstress, who longs for romance and almost finds it; three rakish Spanish carpenters who enliven things considerably; a sad old man, neglected by his children until Jeanne's father showed him how he could be sure of lifelong care by making inheritance of his estate contingent upon behavior of the heirs. In return the old man told Father the location of his secret truffle bed. Ah, the truffles, the snails, the green almonds—food for gourmets.

In short the charm, the pathos, the gossip, the envy—the very soul of the French peasant is here turned out by one who knows them well for you to see and to admire.—THE BOOKWORM.

Two books of hilarious American humor for light summer reading—"Father of the Bride" by Stretcher who wrote the "Dere Mabel" letters in World War I. All about what happens to poor father before, during and just after the wedding of his only daughter; and "Cheaper by the Dozen" by two of the 12 children born to William and Lillian Gilbreath, efficiency engineers, and how they apply the methods which they recommend to their clients to the rearing of their own over-size family—and a good job they do too.

The odor of musk still clung to the rooms of the Empress Josephine 60 years after her death in spite of washings and paintings. She loved the scent and perfumed her rooms with it constantly.

Will Use Comic Books

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—The comic book is going to be used to help keep junior interested in going to school. The plan was announced yesterday by the National Social Welfare Assembly. It said it has arranged with National Comics Publications, one of the country's largest comic publishers, to convey socially constructive messages through popular teenage comic strips. The first message, urging youngsters to continue their school careers, will appear in the August issues of 32 comic periodicals, with a circulation of 10,000,000.

Stone Ridge Grange Flower Show to Be Held Next Thursday; 100 Classes Set in Schedule

Stone Ridge, Aug. 18—The Stone Ridge Grange annual Flower Show will be held next Thursday at the Grange Hall. Plans are being made for an elaborate show.

The committee and members of the Grange will meet Friday night at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Osterhout to finish plans. This year the committee will sponsor a handicraft table and anyone having articles to exhibit is asked to bring them to the show.

All floral exhibits must be staged in the Grange Hall before 1 p. m. Thursday and following the judging the show will be open to the public for the remainder of the afternoon and evening. The committee assumes that all flowers are donated unless otherwise stated and a sale of the exhibits will be held in the evening.

A special children's table will be placed for exhibits and in all the committees has listed 100 different classes in which flower growers may exhibit.

Flowers named in the classes include dahlias, gladioli, petunias, delphinium, zinnia, marigolds, nasturtiums, sunflowers, asters, cosmos, phlox, calendulas, scabiosa, gaillardia, snapdragons, potted plants, gardens, bouquets, baskets, artistic arrangements, wild flowers, fruit, preserves, vegetables, children's exhibit, and a class for all exhibits not specifically stated.

Further information concerning the classes may be obtained from members of the committee. Jerry Polinsky, widely known for his gladioli blooms, is chairman again this year.

The Autumn BRIDE

—by—
SCOTT'S

Every bride searches for the most beautiful wedding gown in the world. To her at least, it must be supremely lovely, the perfect dress for the most perfect day of her life.

The beauty that a bride looks for in her wedding dress is a distillation of all lovely lines and treatments. Whatever styles have been lovely through the years are the ones she will search for now.

She wants a dress that will flatter her now and that will still be lovely to look at 10 years hence, when the wedding pictures are brought out again.

The bride will find the loveliness she is looking for in the wedding gown designed for Scott's and sketched today.

Shawn Premiere Will Be Given At Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival

The world premiere of "The Dreams of Jacob" with choreography by Ted Shawn and musical score by Darius Milhaud will feature this week's program at the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival near Lee, Mass. John Kriza, Ruth Ann Keeson, and Norma Vance, stars of the Ballet Theatre Company, and Iva Kitchell, internationally-known dance mime and satirist, also will appear at the barn theatre where performances will be given on Friday and Saturday at 4 and 9 p. m.

Commissioned by the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation of the Library of Congress, "The Dreams of Jacob" musical score is in five movements and was written for five instruments: Oboe, violin, viola, cello and bass. Mr. Milhaud who directed the musicians recorded the score in California and these recordings will be used for the performance. Mr. Shawn, who will dance the role of Jacob, has likewise choreographed this biblical theme in five movements: Jacob's Pillow; Jacob's Ladder; The Prophecy;

The Second Dream; and Israel, a Hymn.
Mr. Kriza and Miss Vance will dance the Grand Pas de Deux from the ballet "Don Quixote," and the former will then appear with Miss Keeson in two popular works: "Miss Otis Regrets" created by Cole Porter and "To Be So Nice To Come Home To" choreographed by Mr. Kriza with score by Mr. Porter.
Miss Kitchell will appear in five works of her own design: "Grand Pas de Deux Seul" (Luigini); "The New Hat" (Debussy); "Lament For a Wilted Lil" (Harvey Brown); "Chantons Danseuse" (Richard Kohn); and "Tany Me's" (Richard Kohn).
Geraldine Shuster will be at the piano for Mr. Kriza, Miss Vance and Miss Keeson; and Harvey Brown will accompany Miss Kitchell.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TOO MUCH PRAISE

A reader asks "Isn't it in bad taste for one member of a family to continually sing the praises of another?"

To outsiders, it is very bad manners, indeed—in fact, detrimental to the one praised.

Asking for Picture

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to ask a former boy-friend to return a studio picture he has of me? It is an expensive picture and I had too few to give one to my grandmother.

Answer: A suggestion from you should be not only proper but probably very pleasing to him because he would hesitate to send it back, otherwise.

Best Friend Gives Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm told that—as maid of honor—I should give the bride a shower. Maybe so, but I think circumstances alter rules. I live 15 miles out of the city in which all the bride's friends live. Certainly it wouldn't do for me to ask my neighbors here, who have no particular interest in the bride.

Answer: It is not an obligation of the maid of honor to give a shower and, under your circumstances, it would be readily understood why you are not giving one. Any of her neighbors at home could give her one.

Serving Watermelon

Dear Mrs. Post: (a) Please tell us the correct silver to serve with watermelon slices at the table. (b) Is it better to serve an even slice laid flat on the plate, or one that can stand on end?

Answer: (a) A knife and fork, usually, although it is possible to use the fork alone, removing seeds with tines and cutting pieces with side of fork. (b) Whichever you yourself prefer.

Father's New Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: My father was a widower for many years and now has married. What shall we call his wife when introducing her to our friends? We dislike "stepmother" and we're too old to call her "Mother."

Answer: The solution would be to say "Father's wife."

Do you know how to eat sandwiches properly? What are the finger foods? Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-16, gives fundamental rules.

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to him, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Shirley Won't Try Swim for Several Days

Dover, Eng., Aug. 18 (UPI)—Shirley May France's attempt to swim the English Channel has been postponed for several days, her father announced today.

The 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., girl had planned to start the swim from Cap Gris Nez, France, to Dover this afternoon, but roughening of the water caused a delay. She is in Calais.

A forecast of moderate seas and variable northwest winds up to 10 miles per hour later discouraged hope that she might make an attempt about midnight.

"I have decided to bring Shirley May back from Calais," said her father, Walter France.

"I felt that Shirley May reached her peak of training at the end of last week. A four-day delay due to adverse weather on the channel has put her off form. She will resume light training at Dover for a period of four to five days before making an attempt to swim the channel."

Shirley May went to Calais Tuesday with her coach, Harry Boudakian, and her chaperone, Miss Mary Lou Walsh. She had trained at Dover after her arrival here July 30.

The failure today of another swimmer, Jose Cortinas of Cuba, in an attempt to cross the channel influenced France to call off any attempt by his daughter tonight.

Cortinas, haggard after a buffet on choppy seas, said in Calais "I'll try again in about two weeks."

The powerful Cuban, 32, tackled the 21-mile stretch of water soon after midnight. He swam about half the distance to Dover in six hours. Then, suffering from cramps, he was pulled from the water by the accompanying boatmen and returned to Calais.

swimming with his arms alone because his legs were paralyzed by cramps.

Cortinas said that for the last part of his attempt, he was Cortinas entered the water at 12.45 a. m. (6:45 p. m. E.S.T. Wednesday).

Waterbury Clips Colonials 5-1, Scores 3 Runs Off Demeri in 9th

Home Club Blows Three Double-Play Chances

Except for Ralph Matzer's robust hitting and a creditable eight-inning pitching stint by Telief Tellefsen there was little to cheer about last night at municipal stadium.

The Waterbury Timers scored five steady runs to give Don Lewis a 5-1 verdict on a neatly executed five-hitter.

The Timers morefully removed the sting from the Colonial defeat in the ninth inning when they scored three runs off reliever Demeri.

Up to that point they had picked up a couple of unearned runs to lead Tellefsen 2 to 1 and it would have been a calamitous setback indeed for the blond right hander. On the other hand anything but a victory for Lewis would have been considered a debacle in the Waterbury camp.

Tellefsen had one of those nights when he couldn't stay out of trouble after retiring the first two batters. Meanwhile the Colonial infielders, three potential double play balls and every miscue figured prominently in a Waterbury scoring sequence.

The Colonials escaped the ignominy of a shutout when Danny Mahan doubled to deep left center and Ralph Matzer hit a ground single over second with two out.

This knocked the count until the seventh inning when Gerretson walked, moved to third on Manager Bert Shepard's solid single to right and scored on the payoff end of a double steal. Tellefsen had Shepard hung up between first and second and made the throw to second. Eddie McNamara's relay to the plate was not too strong and Gerretson moved safely in.

Sabro's walk, a stolen base, Matzer's error and Stefanik's long fly to center got Waterbury off to a 3-0 lead in the second.

The ninth inning thrust by Waterbury was fanned by McNamara's miff of a DIP relay from Matzer at third base. Eastham led off with a walk and Gerretson bounced a double play ball to Matzer, who fired to McNamara. The second sacker missed it. Demeri momentarily stalled off disaster by fanning Shepard and Gerretson. Sabro on a fly to right where Danny Mahan made a fine running catch off his shoetops. Successive singles by Pitaroli and pitcher Lewis sandwiched an outfield bobbie by Danny Permuter to chase three runs across.

COLONIAL CAPERS: Matzer hit the ball solidly for each of his three hits. Tellefsen pitched what the dugout boys call "a long game." He struck out 10 and issued eight walks. The Colonials stopped Leo Eastham, scourge of the night before, in two official trips. He drew three passes. The Timers left 24 men stranded. The reports of Joe Spaul's release appear to have been greatly exaggerated. He was around as big as life in a pinch hitting role. All ticket holders for the car are requested to make reports at the Stuyvesant Hotel tonight at 7:45. Saturday night's contest with the Poughkeepsie Chiefs will be preceded by a series of field events. Only ten more playing dates remain on the home schedule. Max Patkin, the clown-contortionist, is due on August 24.

Plan Air Show

The Lake Katrina Rod and Gun Club will sponsor an air show at the Kingston-Ulster Airport on Sunday, Aug. 28. The program will include stunt flying and many other features. The show starts at 1:30 p. m.

Bagatelles:

With only nine playing dates remaining on the home schedule, the Colonials will somehow stagger through to the bitter end. Max Patkin's appearance on Aug. 24, the giveaway program on Aug. 30 and a few other special events insure completion of the stormiest baseball season in modern Kingston history. We know at least four persons who may emerge from the chaos and confusion without acute attacks of ulcers. Maybe.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Young Maury McDermott may yet become another Lefty Grove but he's getting his baptism of fire and brimstone in the last few starts. Wiltwyer and Twaitskilt linksmen complete their inter-club duel Sunday on the Hurley avenue links, with the home advantage a solid chance to avenge three previous defeats. Leon Randall out of baseball. They will be on hand to bid the Wilkywack throw. Rodney B. Osterhoudt, one of Kingston's all-time golf greats, is among the recent entries for the hole-in-one tournament on August 28. Old timers talk in reverent tones when they recall Osterhoudt's nudge with the irons. He still shoots a fair to middling "down the middle" game. Alex Gorlak swears that if a certain golfer exaggerated his backswing any further, he's liable to be found strangled on some lonely fairway.

Minor League Headaches:

Now that the wartime lull period is a thing of the past, minor league baseball, especially the lower classifications is being hard hit. The New England League finished its season with only four clubs; the Colonial League is floundering, although President John Sculzi remains optimistic about an 8-team circuit in 1950. Ernest "Duke" Landgraf, the volatile North Atlantic League president, is having his share of woes, too. After failing to raise sufficient funds in a stock-selling campaign, the Bangor Club transferred to Berwick, Pa. The Peckskill-Nazareth (North Atlantic) game of August 4 was called after eight innings with Peckskill leading 4 to 2, because the Nazareth management ran out of baseball. The saddest case in all of OB is Newark, N. J., which is expected to attract a measly 10,000 fans for the season. And this was once the greatest minor league stronghold in the nation.

Of Men and Mice:

Kevin "Chuck" Connors, the wartime Recreation first sacker, might make the grade with some other club than Brooklyn which seems to appreciate his vaudeville talent but not his all-around play. Kingston bowling fans were shocked by the news of Mrs. Joe Williams' death. The wife of the former national main game champion, who is extremely popular here, was killed in an auto accident on Aug. 15. Williams suffered only head injuries and cuts in a two-car crash and is recuperating at his Jersey, N. J., home. Mrs. Williams had never touched a bowling ball until the champion married her. In a few years, he developed her into one of the country's best. She had rolled 32 series of 400 or better during the 1948-49 season, had an average of 198 and a high game of 281. She captained the Marlon, winner of the Chicago city championship.

Joseph Magnino Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magnino of Kingston, is among 40 Norwich gridders invited to report at Northfield, Vt., for the start of football drills on Sept. 1. Young Magnino is a backfield candidate. . . . The annual Adirondack A.A.U. championship swimming meet will be held at Oakdale Lake, Hudson, N. Y., at 2:30 p. m. We have a few blanks for any local swimmers who might be interested. Sugar Ray Robinson, who meets Steve Bellos next week, has a remarkable record for 90 professional contests—with only one loss and two draws. Jake LaMotta beat him once in five tries.

Best U.S. and British Golfers Ready Today

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—The cream of this country's and Britain's amateur golfers were slated for final tuneups over the Winged Foot course today in preparation for their clash tomorrow and Saturday in the Walker Cup matches.

Expert observers, including Claude Harmon, the Winged Foot pro, who have watched the two teams practice in recent days, are predicting one of the closest matches since the international trophy first was played for in 1922.

The British have brought over a strong, well-balanced side, led by big, laughing Max McCready, who defeated both Frank Stranahan and Willie Turnesa on his way to the British amateur championship this summer.

They practiced as a team for several weeks before coming over, and they have been wearing out the Winged Foot course for the past two weeks. They have confidence in their ability and fully expect to reverse the decision at St. Andrews in 1947, when the Americans won 8 to 4.

Four Scotch foursomes are scheduled tomorrow and eight singles matches on Saturday, all over the 36-hole route. In the Scotch foursomes, the two players on each side take turns whacking a single ball.

Broke Even in '47

In the '47 series, the teams broke even in the foursomes, each with two victories, but the Americans put on a strong finish and swept six of the eight singles. Only four of those who will help defend the trophy are holdovers from the '47 team—Turnesa, Stranahan, Ted Bishop and Steve Riegel.

The rival captains, non-playing Francis Ouimet, of the home forces and left-handed Laddie Lucas of the Britons, were scheduled to exchange their pairings for the foursomes before noon today. The four combinations will meet as they are listed by the captains—No. 1 versus No. 1, etc. Nominations for the singles will

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland's baseball crown was slightly askew today, needing only a couple of more nudges to knock it off completely.

It is becoming more and more evident that unless Bob Feller and Bob Lemon get some much needed pitching help, that world championship flag won't be waving much longer at the Indians' Municipal Stadium.

Of the highly heralded big five, only Feller and Lemon have been coming through of late. Gene Bearden, of whom much was expected after his sensational freshman season, has been a flop. Steve Gromek, who flashed so brilliantly in the world series, has done nothing this season. Gromek has won four games this season, and Bearden seven.

Early Wynn, who took up the slack during June and July, has been getting his bumps of late. The relief brigade, with one or two exceptions, hasn't been coming through. Of Cleveland's last nine victories, Feller and Lemon have won six.

The Indians went into battle without Feller and Lemon yesterday and were neatly scouted by the lowly St. Louis Browns. They took a double defeat that might prove to be the blow that knocked them out of the pennant race. The Browns won by scores of 10-6 and 5-2.

The twin setbacks dumped the Tribe into third place a full five games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees.

Yankees Nip Senators

Faced with the prospect of seeing their lead over the Boston Red Sox diminish to only two and a half games, the Yankees rallied to score two runs in the bottom of the ninth to nip the Washington Senators, 4-3. The Red Sox overcame the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-1, in 10 innings.

In the nip-and-tuck National League race, the St. Louis Cardinals took over first place from the Brooklyn Dodgers by the slender margin of a half game.

The Cards outlasted the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3, in a 13-inning night thriller while the Dodgers bowed to the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-7, in the afternoon. A single by relief pitcher Freddie Martin scored Enos Slaughter from second with the payoff Cardinal run. A five-run eighth inning uprising snapped a 5-5 tie and gave the Phils their second straight triumph over the Brooklyn.

In other games the Chicago White Sox shut out the Detroit Tigers 1-0, and the Boston Braves walloped the New York Giants, 13-4. Rain washed out the scheduled game between Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs.

Use Eight Pitchers

Eight Cleveland pitchers tried in vain to stop the suddenly aroused Browns, five of them seeing service in the opener. Wynn was batted out in the first inning, but the first game defeat fell upon Sam Zisk. Satchel Paige had a 2-1 lead going into the seventh, but was shelved for three runs to be charged with his sixth defeat.

Gerry Priday was the batting leader of the Browns. He drove in four runs with a single and triple in the first game, and batted in two more with a single and homer in the nightcap. The Yankees, who were one of those last ditch battles for which they're becoming famous. Trailing 3-2 in the ninth, the Yankees snaked Rae Scarborough for four singles to win. A wild throw by Scarborough on Phil Rizzuto's bunt brought in the tying run. Gene Woodling then singled in Charley Keller with the winning tally. Vic Raschi went the distance for his 18th triumph.

Robinson, Brooklyn, 28. Triples—Robinson, Brooklyn, 9; 4 players tied with eight. Home Runs—Kiner, Pittsburgh, 32; Gordon, New York, and Sauer, Chicago, 24. Stolen Bases—Robinson, Brooklyn, 28; Reese, Brooklyn, 15. Pitching—Brannan, Brooklyn, 12-4, 750; Roe, Brooklyn, 9-8, 750. Strikeouts—Spahn, Boston, 09; Newcombe, Brooklyn, 95.

Joneses Are City Champions; Windburn Pitches 3-0 Shutout

Staibles and Franks Scheduled for Tonight

Jones Dairy won the City Baseball League championship, Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field, blanking the Morgan Tavern team by 3-0.

Bill Windburn will receive a key chain from Jacobson's clothing store on John street for pitching the shutout.

This evening's game scheduled for 6:15 will be between Staibles and Franks.

In the first inning Schutzel, first baseman for the Joneses, walked. Beck and Maines singled helping him home with a run.

Zadany reached first on Ruzzo's error in the second, advanced to second on a wild pitch and scored as Windburn singled to center. This gave Joneses their second run.

The Milkmen collected their third tally in the fourth stanza. Celuch singled to right, Farte walked, Windburn hit to R. Barnes who threw to first to retire Windburn. Vogt threw to Tierney at second to pick Farte off, but Tierney dropped the ball. Celuch scored.

In the sixth inning, Brinkman hit a ball over second base and Whitaker made a sensational stop, threw low to Schutzel, who made a stellar one-handed pickup for a great play at both ends.

COLONIAL ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

When Hrabesek fanned 17 Poughkeepsie Chiefs last night in posting an easy 9-1 victory, he raised his total strikeouts for the season to 185, breaking the league record of 180 which was set by Schacht in 1947. Schacht now is pitching in the Eastern League.

It was Hrabesek's 15th victory of the season against five defeats and he sent Stamford off in front of Bridgeport by two games in the battle for second place between the teams.

Don Lewis of Waterbury and Red Tellefsen of Kingston also staged a strikeout duel last night as the Timers cashed in on four unearned runs for a 5-1 victory. Lewis, who scattered five hits nicely, fanned eight in nine innings while Tellefsen, who was lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth, also yielded five hits and fanned 10. Two hits off reliever Frank Demeri combined with three Kingston errors enabled Waterbury to sew things up with a three-run ninth after gaining a 2-1 margin in the seventh.

Paul Wargo, the league's leading pitcher in 1948, hurled his second two-pitcher in a row as Bristol shutout Bridgeport, 5-0. Wargo, who won 16 and lost three last season, had a no-hitter until the fifth when Bob Neagle hit him for a single. Pitcher Joe Pelzarski got Bridgeport's only other hit in the eighth. Last Saturday night Wargo held Stamford to two hits while winning 9-1.

Wells Is Champion

Weston, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—Ted Wells of Wichita, Kan., is the new National Snipe Class champion. Sniffing Good News 111, Wells yesterday regained the title he held two years ago, when he also was international champion. He placed fifth both times as the five-race regatta ended, but two firsts and a second earlier in the week combined to give him top spot in the series.

Midjet Victor

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 18 (AP)—Johnny Zeke, Jamaica, N. Y., won the 25-lap feature midjet rule race at Long Branch Stadium last night. Zeke covered the 6 1/2 mile distance in 6 minutes and 11.2 seconds. Buddy Chase of West Hartford, Conn., was second and Russ Kline, Lynbrook, N. Y., third. Tony Bonadies, Bronx, N. Y., and Bill Schindler, Freeport, N. Y., were next in line.

Mulloy, Talbert Will Feel Pressure From Australians

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 18 (AP)—Defending Titleists Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert, who have been competing under wraps so far, will find the National Doubles tennis tournament's pressure much heavier when they face off against Australia's Frank Sedgman and Marcello Del Bello and Robert Abdessalam and Paul Remy of France.

The women reduced their field to the semi-finals yesterday, with four American pairs surviving. Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont, who are striving for their eighth consecutive National Doubles victories, headed the advance into the second-last round.

Accompanying those apparently invincible stars were second-seeded Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of LaJolla, Calif., and Gertrude (Gussie) Moran of Los Angeles, Doris Hart of Miami, and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., and Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., and Betty Rosenquest of South Orange, N. J. All will sit out today's preliminary. It also will be a day of rest for the other surviving male teams, Richard (Panneko) Gonzales and Frankie Parker, the Wimbledon Doubles winner, Jim Brink of Seattle, and Buddy Dohrens of Port Lauderdale, Fla. Australian ace Jack Bromwich and Billy Sidwell and Eric Sturgess and Justace Fannin of South Africa.

Moscow (AP)—A big increase in the number of books published in the Soviet Union is planned for 1950. The editorial council of the State Publishing House of Literature said in the last pre-war year they published 179 book titles totaling 3,000,000 copies. In 1950 it is proposed to publish 381 titles totaling 37,000,000 copies.

Jury Finds . . .

Beck Conviction Places Her Eighth in Line

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fat

Martha Beck's conviction today as a lonely hearts murderer—a conviction carrying a mandatory death sentence—places her in line to be the eighth woman to be electrocuted in New York state.

Seven women have gone to the electric chair since the system of execution was inaugurated in New York state in 1891.

All seven were married. The most publicized of the group was Ruth Snyder, executed at Sing Sing prison Jan. 12, 1928, with her alleged paramour Judd Gray, for the sushweight killing of her husband.

The most recent execution of a woman at Sing Sing was the electrocution Nov. 16, 1944, of Mrs. Helen Fowler, Negro, Niagara Falls, N. Y., for the robbery murder of a gasoline station proprietor.

The state charged that the killing was deliberate, and in his summation Edward Robinson, Jr., Nassau county, N. Y., assistant district attorney, told the jury the motive was "Dead men tell no tales."

Tax Experts Are Showing Interest In Mickey Cohen

Los Angeles, Aug. 18 (AP)—The men who got Al Capone are becoming interested in the affairs of Los Angeles' little gambler, Mickey Cohen.
Income tax experts sent the Chicago gangster to prison in 1932 after efforts by all other law enforcement agencies had failed. They found a million dollars for which Capone had filed no return. Now, federal agents are checking Cohen's tax returns—and comparing them with deals involving millions of dollars disclosed in secret recordings of conversations in Cohen's home.

"Unquestionably a lot of money passed through Cohen's hands," says Harry C. Westover, collector of internal revenue. "We want to know exactly how much stayed there, and we expect a study of these transcripts to help determine that for the period of time involved."
The recordings were obtained by secret installation of microphones by police while Cohen's home was being built two years ago.
Meantime, the city council ordered an investigation of why the police kept the recordings secret for nearly two years. "What do the police propose to do with the information?" asked Councilman E. Debs. "It seems as if some one got it for the purpose of shaking down Cohen."

Meanwhile, the Mirror reported that one of its reporters interviewed Mickey in his home on reports that the recordings might reveal investigation of the 1947 unsolved slaying of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel.
Siegel, who preceded Cohen as boss of this area's rich gambling rackets, was slain as he sat in the Beverly Hills mansion of international playgirl Virginia Hill. The Mirror quoted Mickey thus: "If they find any clues in all that ambers chatter about who killed Benny, I'll eat 'em. Nobody is more anxious to find out who killed Benny than I am. He was my friend . . . he taught me diplomacy."

"Shooting people through a window like that might start a trend."
But all other calls to Mickey's home and office got the same response: "He's not here. He's out of town."

Loans Show Business Is Definitely on Uptrend

City Will Receive $200 Refund From Convention Group

Approximately $200 of the allotted funds will be returned to the City of Kingston by the Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Convention Committee. This was reported by Peter Keresman, chairman of the committee, at a special meeting Monday night. Plans were also made for a final dinner meeting of the committee on August 29, at which time it is expected that a final report will be presented by Vincent G. Connolly, the committee's treasurer. A few minor bills are still outstanding.
Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk issued a formal statement at the meeting on Monday thanking the committee, on behalf of the city, for all of the voluntary work done by the members. He stated that the excellent planning and many hours of work made it possible to carry out a highly successful convention. Only favorable comments were heard among the thousands of visitors and spectators.
The committee gave a pen and pencil set to Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who served as secretary of the convention committee, for his help and assistance. Chairman Keresman also asked that the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce be thanked publicly for permitting their office to be used as convention headquarters and authorizing Kurdt to help the committee.

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Business loans appear definitely on the increase in volume. The gain is a sign that business men are stocking up on goods at last for fall and Christmas sales.
Finance officials here predicted today this uptrend will go on—perhaps some interruptions might be expected on Christmas.
The rejuvenating effects on the economy of increased inventory buying can be judged by the fact that the Commerce Department singled out a cutback in that buying as the prime cause of the 1948 dip in business.
A Federal Reserve Board report showing an $80,000,000 increase in loans to business men by leading city banks during the week ended August 10 mirrored a virtually country-wide improvement.
All districts shared in the expansion except the Cleveland district, where there was a $7,000,000 downturn, and Boston, where the loan volume was unchanged, officials reported.
The big gains were $38,000,000 in New York city and $20,000,000 in the Kansas City district. At New York, the loan increases extended to a wide variety of business fields, officials said.
With business men ordering more goods to sell in turn to their customers, factories can be expected to stop up operations and in some cases recall workers laid off when orders thinned or stopped.
Leon Keyserling, of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers, said only yesterday that the country will have to get back to and exceed 1948 production levels to be prosperous.
Declaring increased production is easy and that the No. 1 problem is to lift consumption to the levels of productive capacity, Keyserling told a war veterans' luncheon.
"In the next ten years we must find ways to absorb 60 to 100 billion of additional goods unless we are going to be faced perpetually with rising unemployment and increasing underutilization of our productive resources."
The stimulus to production expected to flow from renewal of business orders for inventory purposes was expected to help toward bringing the 1,000,000 increase in employment Secretary of Labor Tobin predicted Tuesday will take place during the rest of 1949.
